

Appian and VASS Extend Strategic Alliance across the UK and Latin America

March 26, 2018

Partnership expansion makes VASS' Appian implementation expertise available in new markets

RESTON, Va. and LONDON, March 26, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Appian (NASDAQ:APPN) and VASS today announced an extension of the two companies' strategic alliance. VASS consultants are now available to implement low-code business process management (BPM) solutions on the Appian platform across the UK and Latin America. VASS has accumulated extensive Appian implementation expertise as an Appian partner in Spain for the past 10 years.

Founded in 1999, VASS is an IT consulting firm with 1,200 employees, and presence in multiple countries in Europe and America. Appian and VASS formed a strategic alliance in 2008 in VASS' home country of Spain. A decade of effective collaboration establishes a solid foundation for expanding the partnership to the UK and to Latin America.

This announcement is backed by executive commitments to grow in new markets and acquire new customers through these additional initiatives:

- Increase in the number of Appian trained and certified specialists at VASS by 67% by the end of 2018
- Jointly go-to-market to meet increased demand to create enterprise applications, faster, to meet business needs
- Grow the business in Latin America by helping organisations achieve Digital Transformation through the Appian platform and services delivered by VASS

"We have a long history with VASS, and a successful track-record of servicing clients together," said Marc Wilson, Senior Vice President of Industry Markets at Appian. "Taking our partnership to new markets will benefit many more organisations that are struggling to achieve digital transformation."
